DEATH AGAIN FACES BRUNO

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

A News Report

OUR highways were laid out originally with no thought of the vast unified system of national transportation that they have become today, and therefore, while great measures are taken to protect the public safety on the railroads and steamship lines these same measures are sadly lacking on our roads. Harvey Booth, traffic supervisor for the State Highway Department, told Hope Rotary club Friday noon.

New British Device Expected to Exceed American Clipper Ships

By OSCAR LEIDING

Associated Press Correspondent

LONDON—(AP)—With Germany's huge new dirigible, the Hindenburg, about to start for America, Great Britain is pushing preparations for her first big step in the commercial air conquest of the North Atlantic.

An all-metal, two-decker flying boat and the unique "pick-a-back" combination of a long-range seaplane and a flying boat designed to carry it into the air for launching, are being made ready for trial flights.

Experimental transatlantic flights, looking toward the cooperative regular service of the United States, Canada, Great Britain and the Irish Free State, are planned for the coming summer.

But not until 1938 do British air experts expect the projected regular service of four round-trips weekly to be in operation over what they call "the most valuable but by far the toughest" of the ocean air routes.

"Air University" Busy

While workmen are speeding construction of the British transatlantic planes, a handful of airmen has embarked upon intensive training at the "air university" at Hangle, Southampton Water. Further groups are to take up the same work until 180 men will have been trained for the eventual regular service.

Frost Ruins Radishes; Peaches Saved

Mercury Pounds Down to Low of 28½ Degrees Here

More Moderate Weather Promised After Sudden Spring Freeze

NORTHWEST IS HIT

Fruit Badly Damaged, But Highland Orchard Here Comes Through

A low temperature of 26 degrees wiped out the radish crop in the Blevins area Thursday night and seriously damaged peaches in that district. All shipments from Blevins were halted Friday.

The crop was about half gathered, six carloads already having been shipped to northern states.

The extent of damage to peaches could not be definitely determined Friday although it was feared that a heavy damage was caused by frost and freeze Thursday night.

Reports from the Highland peach area around Nashville said that no great damage was caused there. Trees are heavily loaded and were able to stand a light freeze.

The minimum temperature there was 28 degrees, two above the low for Blevins. Most of the damage around Nashville was to peaches growing in valleys. Orchards in the higher district escaped frost.

28½ Degrees Here

The low temperature in Hope was 28½ degrees, it was reported from the Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment station. Instruments showed that the mercury dropped below freezing about 3 a. m. Friday for a period of about four hours.

More moderate weather is forecast this week-end.

Peach trees at the station were damaged by frost and the cold weather, but no big loss is expected. G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge, said that the trees were overladen and that if 50 per cent were killed there still would be a normal crop.

Mr. Ware said that beans, potatoes and tomatoes were bitten by frost and were damaged by the freeze to some extent. He said that no big loss was encountered, believing that the cold wave would only be a temporary setback for spring gardens.

Apple and plum trees at the station were damaged to some extent.

Radish crops in other sections of Hempstead county were damaged somewhat, but the big loss was in the Blevins sector, reports indicated.

20 in Northern Counties

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Cold weather continued its unseasonal assault upon Arkansas' fruit and truck garden crops Friday with heavy damage reported in the northeast and western sections of the state.

Temperatures dropping as low as 20 degrees in western Arkansas caused ice crystals to form inside the peach trees of that area, Extension Horticulturist Claude Woolsey said Friday.

Officials of the Highland peach orchard, however, in southwest Arkansas, said the damage to orchards in that area was only slight.

In northeast Arkansas smudge pots were kept burning all night, but heavy damage was feared.

Total of 40 Dead

GREENSBORO, S. C.—(AP)—Ten Southeastern communities were hit by a cold wave Friday as a storm which left at least 40 dead and hundreds injured, and property damage of more than 2½ million dollars, blew itself out to the north.

Twelve of the dead were here, 18 at Cordele, Ga., and the other 10 in scattered communities in Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina.

Leasing Activity Here Investigated by State's Agents

W. A. Reed, Secretary State Real Estate Commission, in Hope

LICENSE REQUIRED

Penalty for Violation Is $25 to $500—or 6 Months in Prison

Alleged violation of the Arkansas real estate laws, growing out of the sale of oil leases, royalties and the collection of rents without a license, was being investigated here Friday.

W. A. Reed of Little Rock, secretary of the Arkansas Real Estate commission, was conducting the investigation.

He said that complaints had reached the commission that several persons in Hope and Hempstead county were posing as brokers in the sale of oil leases and royalties without a license.

Mr. Reed indicated that the investigation would continue and that if evidence developed to warrant prosecution, charges would be filed.

He pointed out that the penalty for acting as a real estate broker or salesman without a license ranged from $25 to $500, or six months' imprisonment.

No charges had been filed Friday.

Germany Firm on Fortifying Rhine

Flatly Refuses to Promise Not to, in Message to England

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—A point-blank German refusal to promise not to fortify the Rhineland, even temporarily, was delivered to the British government Friday.

Lord, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons that Great Britain, France and Belgium are ready to fight as allies if attacked by Germany—but the British government is anxious to discuss permanent peace proposals.

French Refuff Hitler

PARIS, France—(AP)—France will reply to Adolf Hitler's peace plan by saying its acceptance would mean the death of the League of Nations, officials said Thursday night.

The government also probably will ask for a hurried conference with Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, at which it will demand rejection of the German counter-proposals.

Among the features of Hitler's program were:

Negotiations for a "new Locarno" would be carried on for four months.

Germany, France and Belgium would consent to have their frontiers controlled by an international commission composed of a representative of Great Britain, Italy and a neutral power.

Each of the three countries would guarantee not to increase its military forces along the border and would refrain from casting aspersions on each other in publications and in teachings.

Negotiations for a 25-year non-aggression pact, under Britain's leadership, would begin after the French elections.

Germany and France would agree to do everything possible in the education of youth to avoid anything "that might poison the attitude of the two peoples to one another."

The treaty would be ratified by the French, Belgian and German peoples in plebiscites.

Immediately after the treaty is ratified Germany would rejoin the League of Nations.

The question of "colonial equality" and of "separating the League covenant from its Versailles treaty basis" would be clarified.

$226,000 Offered State in Pensions

That Much for Arkansas' Old Folks If State Matches Money

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—State Welfare Commissioner Charles H. Andrews announced Friday that the federal government would provide $226,000 to match state funds for the payment of old age pensions during April, May and June.

The government also will put up approximately $10,000 to match money to aid the blind, and approximately $20,000 for dependent children's aid during that period.

New Diesel Train Visits This State

Weights 230 Tons—Half as Much as Same-Sized Steam Train

LITTLE ROCK—The Green Diamond, Illinois Central's new streamlined Diesel-powered passenger train, visited Little Rock Thursday and turned out to be quite a curiosity.

It occupied a track at the Rock Island station from early in the day until late at night with a steady line of sightseers passing through it.

The train was undergoing its first formal exhibition. It came through Memphis on the way to Little Rock but did not show in Memphis. Friday it will display its charms to residents of that city.

The exhibition tour will continue until the middle of May. It will cover all the principal cities of the Southwest, many of those in the South and the Middle West.

The train, as you might suspect, is green in color. It has five parts—power car, equipped with a 1,200-horsepower Diesel oil engine; mail and baggage car, two chair cars and a kitchen-lounge-observation car.

It is the first standard-size streamlined train in existence. The ones you have been hearing about before are a bit smaller than standard. This one is built of steel and aluminum and weighs 230 tons, half the weight of a

Hope Is Urged to Meet Motorcade

Broadway Caravan Is to Stop Here at 10:30 Sunday Morning

Gus Bernier, Arkansas Director of the Broadway of America Highway association, appealed Friday for a delegation of Hope and Hempstead county citizens to meet the Broadway motorcade, due here at 10:35 a. m. Sunday.

After a 30-minute stop in Hope the caravan will continue to El Centro, Calif., where the national convention will be held April 10 and 11.

Mr. Bernier appealed for a Hempstead delegation to escort the motorcade from Arkadelphia into Hope, and then continue as far west as possible.

Mr. Bernier said that all persons interested in driving to Arkadelphia Sunday morning to meet the motorcade, to get in touch with him at New Capital hotel.

The hotel will be an assembly place Sunday morning, but the hour for gathering has not been definitely determined. Mr. Bernier also asked for a delegation to California, if possible.

In a statement, Mr. Bernier said: "We should appreciate the fact that we live on the Broadway of America highway. For a long time the people and the communities on this highway have had a 'picnic.' We had the only all-paved transcontinental highway."

"But the wheel has turned and mills have ground, and now there are about six other competing cross-country highways, similarly paved, many of which are eagerly trying to attract traffic."

"We must make plans for holding and increasing travel on the Broadway of America. To do this successfully, we must have representation. Let's have a big delegation to welcome the motorcade at Arkadelphia Sunday morning and escort the caravan into our city," Mr. Bernier concluded.

Hindus Plan Military College

NASIK, India—(AP)—Plans for the first Hindu military college outside the control of the government, at a cost of approximately $250,000, have been announced by Dr. B. S. Moonje, veteran Hindu leader. The financial support of rich Hindu merchants is being solicited.

County Surpasses Flood Fund Quota

Red Cross Total Here Reaches $250.36—Quota Was $250

Hempstead county exceeded its Red Cross relief quota Friday when D. B. Thompson, county chairman, reported that $250.36 had been contributed to aid Eastern flood refugees. The quota was $250.

Mr. Thompson expressed thanks and appreciation to all persons who had contributed to the fund.

Enough Profit Is Left to Encourage Industry to Do Its Best

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate finance committee voted Friday to curb drastic features of the war profits bill to leave sufficient profit motive "to induce industry to do its utmost to win a war," and put the measure in shape for reporting to the floor at this session.

Germans Plan Himalayan Climb

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—A close associate of Governor Hoffman said Friday that the governor is prepared to grant Bruno Richard Hauptmann another reprieve unless there is a reprieve, a court stay, or clemency by the Court of Pardons.

New Defense Demand

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—Hempstead County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hays Jr., said Friday that C. Lloyd Fisher, Bruno Richard Hauptmann's attorney, had demanded that he convene the grand jury to consider killing charges against Paul H. Wendel, district attorney.

Fisher expressed the belief that Wendel might be guilty of kidnapping the Hindenburg, and that he join with the defense attorney in requesting a stay of execution.

To Proceed With Execution

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—Colon Mark O. Kimberling, warden of the state penitentiary, announced Friday morning that he had communicated with the foreman of the Mercer county grand jury, which investigated the

"Extra" Friday Night

With Bruno Richard Hauptmann scheduled to go to the electric chair at 8 o'clock Eastern Standard Time (7 o'clock Hope) unless new clemency is extended, him, at the last moment, The Star will issue an extra Friday night. The extra should appear about 8 o'clock depending on developments.

All mail subscribers will be notified with it, just as The Star has done the editors' last Tuesday night. Last Tuesday's extra set an all-time record for street sales in Hope.

Paul H. Wendel case, and was informed that the jury would not request a further stay of execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

"I am going ahead with preparation for the execution Friday night," the warden said, "until I get other advice."

The jury whose consideration the Wendel charges caused the postponement Tuesday of Hauptmann's execution, now set for Friday night, did not vote a "no-bill" which would have dismissed the formal murder charge on which Wendel now is in jail, nor did it vote an indictment.

Leo Rogers, assistant prosecutor, said: "The grand jury has voted to indict."

Prosecutor Erwin Marshall said: "The grand jury has voted to indict."

"There is nothing standing in the way of Hauptmann's execution Friday night."

The result, therefore, of its inquiry which has included the questioning Governor Harold G. Hoffman, Attorney General David T. Wilentz, Burlington County Detective E. Parker, and Wendel himself, and others, is to leave the murder charge open for further action by the grand jury, if it should desire, or the prosecutor.

A high legal authority, associated with Hauptmann's prosecution, said: "There is nothing standing in the way of Hauptmann's execution Friday night."

Foreman Allyn E. Freeman of grand jury said its next meeting would be Tuesday.

The jury's failure to take any action leaves the fate of Hauptmann in the hands of the governor, to Governor Hoffman, and his hands appeared tied by rulings of the attorney general's office that he lacks power for further reprieve.

Wendel Is Witness

The last witness to be heard by grand jury in a session that began for 10 o'clock Thursday morning did not end until 11:30 p. m., was accused man, Wendel. He was in room three and a half hours and out cheerful.

There was a little patch of ground where summer roses might have smiled, but only ugliness was found. And stacks of rubbish piled. And there was room for marigold. And phlox and flowering cosmos fair. When people happily beheld. But that little space stayed bare. There might have been a patch of lawn. And hollyhocks towering tall. But the man who lived there gazed upon the weeds and let them sprawl. He saw both rubbish and shame displayed. And, all indifferent, passed them by. He would have to work were a garden made. His ground to beautify. And so with some of us, shame we see. On the right and the left displayed. But to make this life what it ought to be. Means trouble—and we're afraid!

The living room and dining room of the Bryant home were beautifully decorated with vases and baskets of spring and purple iris forming a lovely background for the Confederate flag, the saluting of which is now included in the impressive chapter opening, following the ritual and chapter song. "How Firm a Foundation." The regular routine of business was transacted, a new feature being an open forum for the discussion of different questions pertaining to the various branches for which the chapter stands. A most interesting program opened by the leader Mrs. Chas. Locke, who discussed Arkansas' part in the Centennial, followed by Mrs. John Barrow who read a paper on "What The Jefferson Davis Highway Has Done in Kentucky." The program closed with Mrs. Wilbur Jones discussing "What the Tourist Will Learn Along the Jefferson Davis Highway in Texas." Mrs. George Spragins read a very beautiful and touching memorial to Mrs. J. T. Hicks, who was a charter member of the Pat Cleburne chapter. Mrs. John Patton was a guest. Following the program, the hostesses served a delightful ice course with cake and salted nuts.

narrow and it rarely hits large centers of population as one did in St. Louis in 1927.

The greatest death-dealing disaster in this country was the Galveston hurricane-tidal wave of 1900 when some 6,000 people perished.

Johnstown Flood—The greatest single disaster was the Johnstown flood in 1889 when about 2,300 lost their lives in the Pennsylvania community.

Tornadoes on August 28 and October 2, 1933, killed a total of 3,000 persons at Charleston and Savannah and on the coast of Louisiana. Deaths in the 1928 Florida hurricane were estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000. When the steamship General Slocum took fire in the East river in 1904 more than 1,000 perished.

While these disasters are of an appalling and spectacular nature, they are "puny pickers" compared with automobile traffic as a dispenser of death. Motor cars take a toll of 3,000.

Famous Disasters

1889—Johnstown flood—2,200 killed.

1933—Tornadoes at Charleston, Savannah and on Louisiana coast—3,000 killed.

1900—Galveston hurricane-tidal wave—6,000 killed.

1903—Iroquois theater fire, Chicago—602 killed.

1904—Burning of steamship General Slocum in East river—1,021 killed.

1906—San Francisco earthquake and fire—42 killed.

1915—Ohio river flood—132 killed.

1915—Overturning of steamship Eastland in Chicago river—812 killed.

1928—Florida hurricane—1,500 to 2,000 killed.

lives a month in the United States, or seven times as many as San Francisco's famed fire and earthquake.

Many Home Accidents
Accidents in the home kill 34,000 annually, permanently disable 150,000 and injure nearly 5,000,000. Fire takes an estimated death toll of 10,000 and causes property damage of $259,000,000 a year.

Some idea of the prevalence of major disasters in the United States is indicated by the fact that in the 12 months ending June 30, 1935, the Red Cross provided aid for victims of 128 disasters.

These disasters occurred in 37 states and the territory of Alaska. They included in addition to floods, tornadoes and hurricanes, storms in the "dust bowl" of the nation, the burning of the steamship Morro Castle, a trench mouth epidemic and a number of land fires.

Other Major Disasters
Major disasters in the United States in the last 10 years included:
1926—Hurricane struck Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, killing 372 people, destroying 5,000 homes.
1927—Floods in Mississippi valley killed 200,000, rendered 700,000 temporarily homeless, destroyed 4,000,000 acres of crops.
1928—St. Francis dam collapsed in Southern California, killing 40.
1930-1931—Drought parched fields of 1,057 counties in 23 states—Red Cross aided 2,765,000 drought sufferers.
1932—Earthquake in Southern California killed 130 persons, injured 5,000, caused $50,000,000 damage.
1935—Hurricane swept Florida Keys, killing 400 to 500 persons.

Grayson Picks Detroit Tigers to Take Third Straight Flag

Al Simmons and Strong Infield Reserves Give Bengals Still Greater Punch for 1938 Season

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the series on big league training camps.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

LAKELAND, Fla.—With the 33-year-old Al Simmons as the bellwether, the 1938 Detroit Tigers are determined to take their place with the outstanding clubs of modern baseball by winning their third consecutive American League pennant.

Only eight other aggregations have succeeded in making it three in a row since 1901—the Pittsburgh Pirates of 1901-2-3, the Chicago Cubs of 1906-7-8, the Tigers in 1907-8-9, New York Giants of 1911-12-13 and 1921-22-23, the New York Yankees of 1921-22-23 and 1926-27-28, and the Philadelphia Athletics of 1929-30-31.

Having rewarded all deserving Tigers for their services during the last two seasons, Manager Mickey Cochrane set out this spring to guard against lethargy.

Fourteen new hands, including 13 recruits, 10 of whom would likely to remain, were keeping the start in the Tigers. With such promising candidates as Pitchers Don French, Chad Kinsey, Red Phillips, and Jake Wade; infielders Rudy York, Don Ross, Gilbert English, and Chet Laabs; and outfielders Hubert Bates and Chet Morgan fighting for places, all is hustle at Lakeland.

The reason for all the pep displayed is not, however, supplied by the rookies—it's the presence of Al Simmons in camp. The $75,000 purchase from the White Sox is expected to help out a lot in center field. He is in the best shape of his career. He is happy, and firmly convinced that he will rattle a lot of hits off the boards at Navin Field, where he always has done well.

Pitching Staff Strong
There is every indication of a complete comeback on the part of Simmons, and the Tigers are quite likely to ride it to a third pennant if he hits anywhere near his lifetime average of .247.

The Bengals again should get fine pitching from Schoolboy Rowe, Tom Bridges, Eldon Auker, Alvin Crowder, Roxie Lawson, Vic Sorrell, Elton Haggsett, and Joe Sullivan.

They have a good finisher in Kinsey, a seasoned right-hander with a sinker, who is up again from Montreal, French, up from Springfield with an underhand delivery like Auker's, bagged 18 last year. Phillips, 30 pounds heavier than when he checked in with the Tigers in 1934, won 20 for Beaumont, Wade, a tall southpaw with a hop on his fast one, won 13 of his 15 starts for Portland.

Cochrane gives himself the best chance in either major wheel. Ray Hayworth is perhaps the finest second-stringing receiver in baseball. Frank Reiber is itching for more work behind the log.

The infield will be the same as last year, with Hank Greenberg, the incomparable Charley Gehringer, Bill Rogell, and Marvin Owen. The Tigers no longer are short of reserves, for in the infield there are York, who may fill in for Hank Greenberg if the first sacker doesn't sign; Flea Clifton, English and Ross.

Cochrane simply is nerds about the fleet-footed Ross, who is setting in at third for Marvin Owen in exhibition games. Manager Mike asserts that the rookie has the finest arm he ever saw on a peegreen. A handsome chap of 20, Ross has the poise of a veteran. He stands six feet one and scales 190.

Looking at his swing for the first time, you might suspect that Ross lacks power at the plate, for he is something of a wrist biter. The youngster, however, hits both curves and fast ball a good distance.

The ease of Ross again illustrates the thoroughness of the Detroit organization. The Tigers signed the Pasadena, Calif., lad through his parents when he was only 15 and still in high school. Ross and Bates were uncovered by Marty Krug, the old Chicago Cub infielder and Los Angeles manager who scours the far western slope for the Bengals.

Bates Protects Garden
Cochrane calls Bates one of the best pieces of timber he has seen in many a day. The youngster can run and throw, and is a beautiful outfielder. He hit .308 and swiped 38 bases for Beaumont last season.

The Detroit outfield w.l. be composed of Simmons in center, Pete Fox in right, and the redoubtable Goose Goslin in left. With Bates, the fastest man on the squad, among those present, such a capable performer as Gerald Walker will find it tough to break in for any length of time; and the fleetfooted Jo-Jo White, whose batting mark tumbled to .20 last season, is fighting to stick on the squad.

The wealthy Red Sox are loaded. The Di Maggio-led Yankees may prove tough. The Cleveland Indians have the tomahawks out, with Frankie Pytlak back in the thick of things.

But give them an argument when they try to talk you out of the Simmons-equipped Detroit Tigers, who will get bonuses amounting to 25 per cent of their salaries for winning again, despite reports that Owner Walter O. Briggs' offer was withdrawn under pressure from Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

The Bengals are stronger than last year, when they were plenty good enough to take it all.

Cotton Paving to Get Test by State

Arkansas Accepts Offer by U. S. Bureau of Public Roads

LITTLE ROCK.—The State Highway Commission Wednesday awarded contracts on five road construction projects which will cost approximately $165,000 and voted to accept the offer of the United States Bureau of Public Roads to build several miles of "cotton paving" as a test project.

The bureau offered to furnish cotton matting to insulate asphaltic paving on test projects under specifications approved by the bureau, states to maintain the projects and to make periodic reports to the bureau on cost, maintenance expense and durability. The Arkansas project probably will be near Little Rock.

What is the lesson of the story? That God is the great provider, and that His fullness never fills the soul until the soul feels the need of Him.

There might, of course, be an interpretation of the parable that would suggest the primacy of privilege of the chosen people, but it is hardly necessary to give the parable such a narrow interpretation. Even though that may have been its original truth, it surely applies more largely today, and its teaching ought to be one of warning lest being satisfied with the affairs of life and feeling no need, we miss the treasures of grace that God has to bestow.

JESUS INVITES ALL PEOPLE
Text: Luke 14:15-24
International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 5

As you approach this lesson you might recall that verse in which the hymn writer described the grace of God.

"It streams the whole creation reach
So plentiful is the store,
Enough for all, enough for each,
Enough forevermore."

In our teaching and preaching of religion we have not always made the Gospel that broad, and free, and complete. We have tended in one way or another to limit the privileges of grace.

While Jesus was being entertained one of those who sat at the table with Him, speaking out of this sense of limitation, said to Him, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the Kingdom of God." This was the occasion for the beautiful story of the great supper in which Jesus puts the Gospel squarely upon a plane that justifies the hymn writer's description of grace.

The parable of the great supper went beyond emphasis upon the largeness and fullness of the invitation, in the suggestion that those who are most directly privileged do not always take advantage of their opportunity. It is not the largeness of the privilege and the greatness of the opportunity, but the act of acceptance and decision that achieves the blessing of religion.

The benevolent Host made great provision in His supper, and sent forth His servant with the invitations, bidding His guests to come. With one consent the invited guests began to make excuses, which were as flimsy as side: excuses are apt to be. The provider of the feast, naturally, was angered and embarrassed by these rebuffs. So he said to His servants: "Go out into the streets and lanes and bring hither the poor, and the maimed, the blind and lame." That was a glorious feast. It brought the things needed to the most needy. There was no question of acceptance where the need and hunger were so keenly felt.

What is the lesson of the story? That God is the great provider, and that His fullness never fills the soul until the soul feels the need of Him.

There might, of course, be an interpretation of the parable that would suggest the primacy of privilege of the chosen people, but it is hardly necessary to give the parable such a narrow interpretation. # Army Doubles Its Pre-War Strength

U. S. Plans Biggest Peace Time Force in Its History

By EUGENE ARNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Army day marking the nineteenth anniversary of America's entry into the World war, April 8, 1917, finds the United States preparing to boost its military strength to a peace-time high.

Enrollment in the nation's various armed forces—regular army, national guard and reserve corps—today totals 244,500, and an appropriation is pending before Congress to add 1,300 officers and 15,000 men to the army.

In 1917, one year before war broke out in Europe, the United States had less than half as many men under arms as at present, and today's figure is three-fourths the total on the day over 1,000 planes, although military boards have reported the force should be brought up to 1,320. Appropriations now before Congress would permit the purchase of 543 more planes for the army.

Congress also is moving toward a marked increase of protection along the coast lines, particularly along the Pacific, in Panama and at the Hawaiian Islands. Plans are being made for more long-range sea coast and anti-aircraft guns.

Arm In Emergencies
It has been the history of the national defense policy in this country, says the war department, to disband large armies after war. When new emergencies arose both men and officers were trained in a hurry.

After the World war, and its concomitant rush of men through training camps, a national defense act was passed in 1920 which authorized a regular army of 18,000 officers and 280,000 enlisted men.

That strength never has been reached because appropriations were inadequate to support such an enrollment, although the trained officer personnel has been greatly increased to facilitate rapid mobilization should the need arise.

Air Force Stronger
Probably the greatest change in any branch of the army since the World war has occurred in the air force. Only 740 American airplanes saw service in the World war, some abroad and some at training camps here.

American manufacture of combat planes never reached the stage where American planes could be used at the front. France had 3,321 planes in service over the battle fields.

steam train of the same capacity. It is 330 feet long.

The train will move at 85 miles an hour without undue coxing. When the time comes to put it in regular service it will operate between Chicago and St. Louis, making a round trip each day. It will do the 300 miles between the two cities in less than five hours, its sponsors said Thursday.

Chief Joy Thrown by "Sailor Jack"

Moran Wins in Straight Falls Before Small Crowd Thursday

"Sailor Jack" Moran, making his first appearance here Thursday night on the Fair park arena wrestling program, took two straight falls from Chief Jesse Joy to win the feature event.

The latter was partly off form Thursday night and failed to impress the crowd as he did a week ago.

The semi-final bout between Pat O'Brien and Gill LaCrosse proved to be the best fight. LaCrosse forced O'Brien to surrender with a punishing wrist lock to win the first fall.

O'Brien staged a comeback in the second round, resorting to body slams to end the show as the 45-minute time limit expired.

Attendance was held down, possibly due to cold weather.

As WPA Critic Sought Peace

Lloyd Fisher, said to one was following the progress of the new inquiry more closely than the condemned man himself.

His wife brought to him the latest reports on the grand jury—its calling of the governor and the attorney general among other witnesses—when she visited him late Thursday. She returned to New York Thursday night to see her infant son, Manfred.

Fisher declared he would again seek a stay of execution—once denied—from Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard or another reprieve of doubtful validity from the governor in the event of a new murder indictment in the case. He would not say what action he might take if no indictment was returned.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who has challenged the evidence that convicted Hauptmann, spent an hour and 15 minutes before the Mercer county (Trenton) grand jury which is investigating a charge that Paul H. Wendel murdered the Lindbergh baby.

He was followed by Attorney General David T. Wilentz, who has fought successfully through six courts to sustain Hauptmann's conviction.

When he emerged nearly two hours later, Wilentz expressed the opinion that "even accepting Wendel's confession, there is no basis upon which a murder charge could be placed in this country."

Asserting that in the "confession" the kidnapped child's death was ascribed to a fall out of bed, Wilentz added:

"That doesn't spell murder in this country."

"It is my considered judgment that this country has no jurisdiction."

British to Mount

toughest of the ocean air routes.

'Air University' Busy
While workmen are spending construction of the British transatlantic plane, a handful of airman has been barked upon intensive training at the "air university" at Hamble, Southampton Water. Further groups are to take up the same work until 180 men will have been trained for the eventual regular service.

Full details of the new planes have been withheld by the constructors but it is reliably understood that the new flying boat is designed to be faster but lighter than the American clippers, used on transatlantic flights.

Based on available details, a comparison of the British transatlantic plane shows:

Wing span.....	114 feet	130 feet
Overall length.....	88 1/2 feet	141 feet
High speed (approx.).....	200 m.p.h.	180 m.p.h.
Number of motors.....	Four	Four
Weight fully loaded.....	17 tons	24 tons

The British flying boat will be a high-wing monoplane with no external bracing of the wing. Floats fixed to the wing-tips will help preserve stability on rough water.

Short Take-off Devices
Four engines will be mounted in the leading edge of the wing, two on either side of the hull.

The boat will be entirely of metal, except for fabric covering small portions of the wing and the tail.

It will have a number of devices to insure short take-off and landing runs. These will include controllable-pitch propellers and flaps on the trailing edge of the wing to steepen glide and reduce landing speed.

The great overall height is designed to enable the boat to ride over severe storms without serious harm, in event of a forced landing on exposed water. The engines will be out of reach of all but heavy ocean waves.

Somewhat larger than this plane is the flying boat being built as the "mother" ship or launching plane for the novel "pick-a-back" combination.

Its designer is Major R. H. Mayo, 45-year-old technical adviser of Imperial Airways. British faith in its possibilities is indicated by the fact that a $475,000 company has been floated to exploit the invention.

Double Plane Range Seen
The "mother" plane, with four 900-horsepower engines, will carry on its back a heavily-laden, long-range seaplane powered with four 350-horsepower engines.

The plan is for them to take off as one eight-engine biplane. When an altitude of approximately 10,000 feet is reached and good forward speed attained, the two machines would separate and the seaplane would continue on its transatlantic voyage alone.

Calculations have been made that the invention should double the range of the seaplane.

Only one "mother" plane will be ready by summer but another "mother" plane to be stationed on the other

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to Act No. 119 of the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas of 1935, there has been filed in the office of the Clerk of Hempstead County Chancery Court the complaint of the State of Arkansas to quiet and confirm in said state the title to certain lands mentioned in said complaint and lying in the County of Hempstead and State of Arkansas.

All persons who can set up any right to the lands so forfeited and sold are hereby warned to appear in the Hempstead Chancery Court at the first term after the publication of this notice, to-wit on the 7th day of September, 1936 and show cause, if any there be why the title said forfeited lands should not be confirmed, quieted and vested in the State of Arkansas in fee simple forever.

The description of said lands and the names of the persons, firm or corporation last paying taxes thereon are as follows:

British Yards In Race
LONDON.—(P)—The keel plate of a sister ship to the 30,772-ton superliner Queen Mary, shortly to sail on her maiden voyage to New York, probably will be laid before the end of this year.

Four of the largest shipbuilding firms in Britain are preparing plans for the second giant liner which, experts predict, will be larger and faster than the Queen Mary, perhaps up-wards of 32,000 tons.

Two reasons are offered for an earlier start than anticipated on the new

Fred Astaire and R-K-O in Dispute

Meanwhile, James Cagney Successfully Breaks Warner Contract

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Movie battlefront

Around the R-K-O actor preparations proceeded for "Never Gonna Dance," the next Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers picture, while the studio talked hopefully of an impending settlement of its difficulties with Astaire.

The lean, tapper stopped rehearsing his routines when he said, "I won't dance," which by coincidence was the first title of the new picture. But he did not say "Never gonna dance—for R-K-O."

The preparations included, of course, only those of director and script writ-

Ginger Rogers, who seems perfectly willing to dance now, once was not so willing.

That was when Ginger was first making in show business, a person-ally girl who danced and sang. She wanted to be a yandeville monologist, singing and talking. She was dancing only as a prelude to this greater achievement.

But it was dancing, with Astaire, that brought her greatest success. Cagney, Confessing Warner's Alibi, the Warner line they are still a little dated from the court victory of their little rebel, James Cagney. They and others in Hollywood wonder what effect the Warner "bad boys" success at law will have on other recalcitrant stars.

And they recall the advent of Cagney on the movie scene, five years ago. The red-head owes his presence—and hence his ability to file suit to cancel a $500 a week contract—to Al Jolson.

Jolson paid $20,000 for screen rights to a Broadway play, mildly successful, called "Penny Arcade." He turned around and sold them to his bosses, the Warners, for $25,000 plus the promise to bring out two young players from its cast. These were James Cagney and Joan Blondell.

Cagney began drawing $400 a week. Warner sympathizers are saying now, "That's gratitude!"

Cagney's retort: "The Warners didn't pay him $4,500 a week just because they liked him!"

A Short Moore Rebellion

All seems peaceful at Columbia, threatened by a two-day headline battle from Grace Moore. The singer's plaint, uttered at Detroit, concerned singing all day and milking a cow all night for pictures. She didn't like it, she told reporters.

And then, while Hollywood waited tensely, Miss Moore's local agent gave assurances that all was really well, that she would be back for additional recordings for the film.

Story of Easter to Be Re-Enacted

Natural Amphitheater Near Lawton, Okla., Is to Be Setting

LAWTON, Okla.—(P)—On a rocky hillside—similar to the terrain of Judea—the story of a lowly Nazarene's nativity and his death on the cross will be enacted Easter Sunday at dawn.

The setting is a vast natural amphitheater at the base of Mount Roosevelt in the Wichita mountains of southwestern Oklahoma, 22 miles northwest of Lawton.

Eighty thousand persons ignored their cozy beds and bumped over rough mountain roads a year ago to see the drama of Jesus' birth and death, presented by the Wichita Mountains Easter service association. Even more are expected to be present at 3:30 a. m. this April 12.

Sponsors plan elaborately for the second presentation, which will add three modern touches to the story 1900 years old.

While 2,500 actors in the religious drama, sing in the finale, Pilot Art Cooper will take his plane roaring aloft to sky-write a benediction—"Peace on earth."

A public address system will carry actors' voices to the big audience which will be seated on the rocky slopes of the amphitheater or in parked automobiles.

West Ku Klux Klan Robes

A third twentieth century flourish will be the gowns of the actors.

From the now dust-covered caverns of the Ku Klux Klan have been brought 400 hoods and gowns to be worn by angels.

"We had to find costumes for 2,500 actors," said the Rev. A. M. Wallock, director of the service. "We need the robes. They will be returned after the pageant."

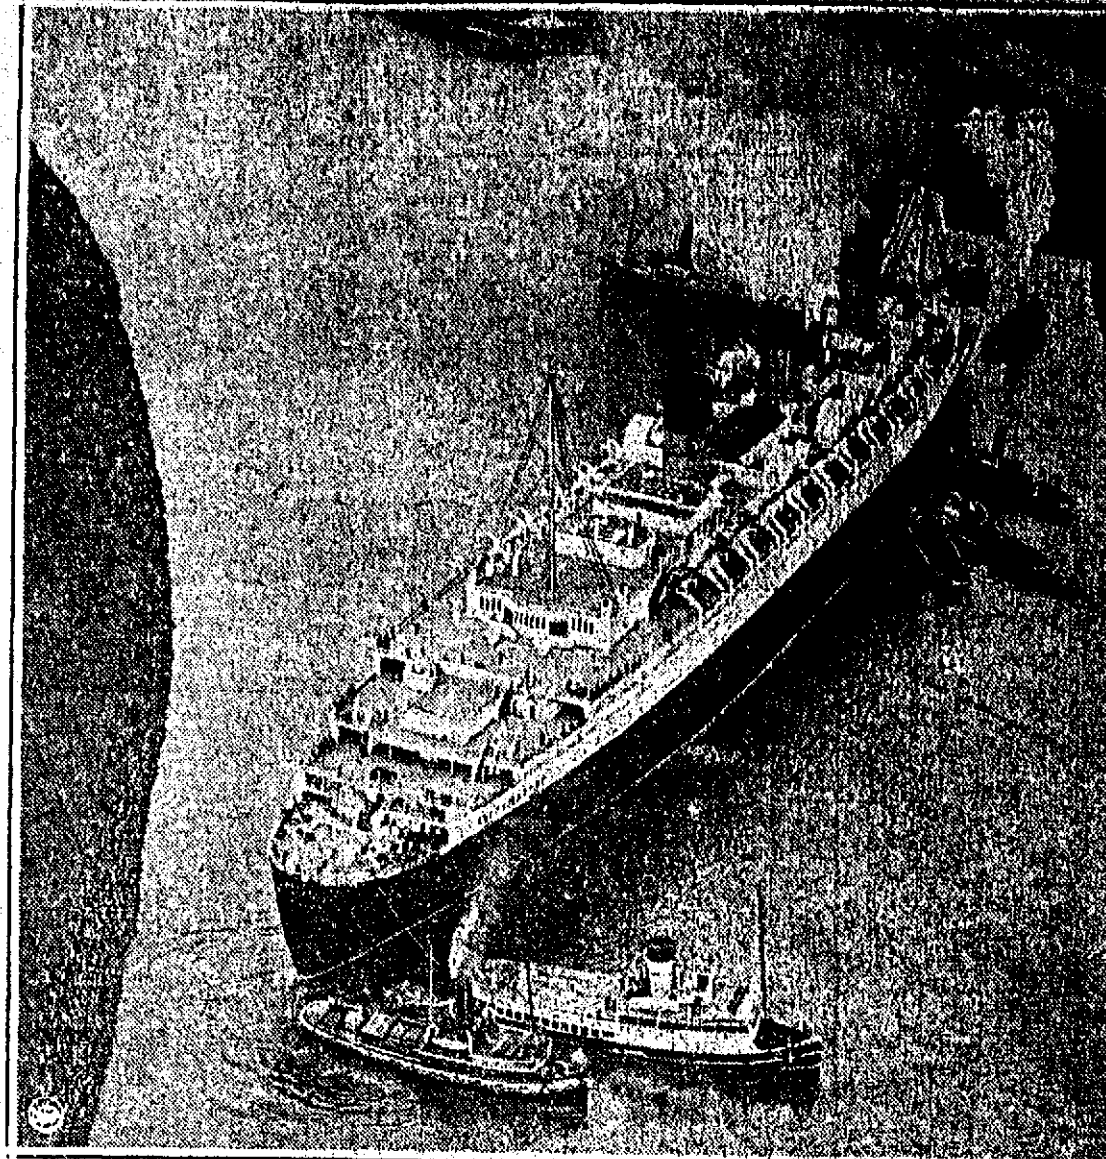

Five hundred "angels" will make their appearance at 3:30 a. m., descending to the stable in Bethlehem where Jesus is born. Overhead shines the star of Bethlehem. Cherubim and seraphim in silver and gold appear.

Two thousand voices swell in a tremendous chorus and as their prelude continues tableaux of "The Rock of Ages," "The Martyr's Cross" and "The Light of the World" are presented.

The Nativity, the Adoration of the Wise Men and the Joy of the Shepherds is immediately followed by the Scene of the Temptation.

Then follow rapidly picturization of

As Queen Mary Headed for Sea to Try Her Speed

Like Gulliver bound by the Lilliputians, the huge new British liner Queen Mary found herself rendered helpless by the narrow, winding channel from her Clyde bankdock to the sea. The great ship, powered by engines almost useless, dwarfed the stream in this remarkable view of a critical moment in the journey to sea. A formidable flotilla of tugs strains to keep her from running aground as her growth makes it difficult to negotiate a curve. Spectators crowd the bank to cheer Great Britain's bid for Atlantic shipping supremacy.

Gene Raymond Is Believer in Tours

He's One Film Actor Who Really Likes Personal Appearances

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Gene Raymond has become a driving example of the movie actor who won't let well enough alone.

Time was when the screen's puppets thought they were doing their full duty by themselves and the public if they graced a few pictures every year and spent the rest of their time at ease.

If they went on a personal appearance tour Hollywood smiled and said, rather sorrowfully, "Well, that's the end. It's just trying to cash in on the last straw. Pictures won't have him any more—why shouldn't he go out and collect what he can before retiring?"

But Gene—and there are others like him—makes it a practice to appear personally in various parts of the country between pictures. He has found it helps, not only financially but professionally. Instead of marking the end of the actor's trail as it once did, the personal appearance now helps, he says, to make the trail longer.

He likes to play only two or three cities on one tour, preferably only two. A longer tour is too strenuous. He likes, for two reasons, to have his play-dates coincide with the showing of one of his pictures. He thinks fans are likely to enjoy the chance to compare an actor (any actor) in person with his screen self; any increased revenue due to a personal appearance is credited to the books to his picture, which helps all around.

Gene wanted to do a "personal" instead of making "Love on a Bet." But that was before he knew the picture would develop into his best attraction in years. He made the trip afterward, instead.

Ticket Into Films

Explorer Harrison Forman is of the opinion Author James Hilton could have selected no better setting for a fantastic romance than Tibet. Tibet is Explorer Forman's specialty, and he is here—with trunksloads of Tibetan curios and photographs, to advise "technically on the making of Hilton's "Lost Horizon." Frank Capra is directing, with Ronald Colman starred.

The film is running into practical difficulties. There are no real Tibetans around for casting. American Indians are substituting. There are no real Tibetan horses, either. Forman, who is probably the only man in Hollywood who knows what a Tibetan horse should be, had to be content with a group imported from the western plains of these United States.

The "Last Supper"

In an upper room under the stars and a flood of moonlight, the masterpiece of Leonardo De Vinci, "The Last Supper," comes to life.

Then the disciples enter the garden of Gethsemane. Grief stricken, Jesus prays. The disciples sleep on. An angel comes and ministers unto Jesus. The scene shifts abruptly. By the guttering light of a torch Jesus is seized by the mob and is dragged before Pontius Pilate.

Drowsy silence follows the condemnation. Then comes the stumbling march with the cross, crucifixion. Jesus is buried in the sepulchre.

Dawn breaks over the mountain and the resurrection sermon begins. As light streaks the sky the stone of the tomb moves away without the aid of human hands.

Terrified, two soldiers on guard turn and flee. Two angels step from the tomb.

The service closes with a picture of love, dedicated to the brotherhood of all races.

Scarcity of Wild Life Is Critical

Fond Memory of Old Time Sportsmen Is Denied Youth of Today

By LARRY BAUER
Associated Press Correspondent

Remember way back when squirrel broth was a standard recipe for convalescents? And a young, clover-fed groundhog was "fresh meat" in the summertime? Or barefoot, you waited until the harvester started to cut the last grain in the center of the field, and with dog and stick got a mess of half grown rabbits as they scurried out?

If so, then you are one of the ancient brotherhood with wholesome memories of youth that are denied many boys of today because of the scarcity of wild life and increased urban population.

Those were great days. City folks would drive out in spring, wagons and buggies to shoot ducks, turkey and deer as the first frosts tanged the air of fall. After their pointers and setters fought a round or so with the farm dogs everybody settled down for a week of hunting and eating huge meals.

Listen to the Music

The visiting sportsmen brought candy and knickknacks for the women-folk and "store likker" for the men. Also fine breech-loading shotguns which they permitted the youngsters to fire now and then. Every other night there was a "coon hunt" or fox chase with the "music" ringing clear in the moonlight. Someone always carried an oil lantern which went out at the wrying time.

On nights when the dogs rested from their nocturnal hunts all hands turned out for old time dances. With tunes by a fiddler and stimulus by the best caller in the neighborhood. There were some fist fights, to be sure, but nothing serious. Just good, clean fun. For refreshments there were bankers of cider and baking pans full of roasted quail. The taste lingers yet. We would swap all our fancy guns and fishing gear to relive just a few of those days. "Who wouldn't?" But they are gone forever.

Somewhere in this yarn we mentioned groundhog, also known as woodchuck. A fat one well rounded is not to be despised. Old ones should be parboiled for 30 minutes but young ones do not require this treatment. Rub with salt and pepper and roast in a slow oven, allowing about 20 minutes to every pound. A better method is to barbecue them over an open fire.

Dust Monkeys Birds

Quail and prairie chickens are being wiped out by dust storms, L. D. Rick-ey, Oklahoma state game warden, reports.

"The situation is acute," he said. "We had the same thing last year and it looks as if it will be worse this spring if the storms continue."

Kansas has ordered a closed season on prairie chickens this year.

Drank Daugherty, government reindeer superintendent, says wolves are killing deer in the Point Barrow, Alaska, area "just for sport," eating only the tongue. More than 500 deer have been killed.

In the Malheur national forest of Oregon there is an area reserved for hunting by archers only.

Lady Took Cardui During Middle Life

Women who are entering middle life will be interested in the experience of Mrs. L. C. McDonald, of Paragould, Ark., who writes:

"I cannot say anything but good about Cardui. I think it is a grand medicine. I took Cardui during change of life. I was so weak, so nervous, I could hardly go. I just dragged around, had fainting spells and would just give down. My back and legs hurt. I knew I had to take something to give me strength. I read of Cardui. I took about seven bottles. It gave me relief and strength. I am now 60 years past, and can do a pretty good day's work in the house and garden."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. —adv.
